

MOBIUS

Reverse Supression Code

The "reverse suppression code" was devised as a means to provide a cleaner display on the central INN-Reach system (MOBIUS) for items which are available to a library's patrons but which can not be requested by patrons from other libraries.

The item records are suppressed from display on MOBIUS using the appropriate suppression/contribution code--code "z" for most clusters. A "dummy" collective record (either item or checkin) is created using the "reverse suppression code" which will suppress the record from public display on the local catalog and display it on the central INN-Reach public catalog. This will display the extent of the libraries holdings for that title in a single holdings statement in MOBIUS.

The "reverse suppression code" may be set up for all record types.

Below is an example of a title for a set of videorecordings. There are two copies of each recording. One copy has the status of Lib Use Only. The other copy is available for checkout by the library's patrons only.

As you can see in the last screenshot, this makes for a neater display and still let's the library display holdings which may be available to other users through traditional interlibrary loan or for use within the owning library.

Summary display of title with 14 parts (2 copies each) and a guide book.

TITLE Ethical issues in professional life [videorecording] / producer, Robert Mertzman ; director, Mark Kalita.
